ABSOLUTELY PURE WATER

Is the Francis Mineral Water and Guarantee Goes With It—Positively Protected From All Germs, Filth and Surface Water.

The Francis mineral water is highly recommended by leading physicians for its medicinal qualities as well as its purity, and there is no other water on the market so appropriate to drink during the summer months, when diseases are more or less prevalent. There is considerable typhoid fever in Clarkburg now, and it is dangerous to drink water from wells that are not protected from germs, filth and surface water. Francis Brothers have taken great care with their three mineral wells and have them perfectly cased, so that it is absolutely impossible for germs to get in the water. Cleanliness is observed strictly as an inspection of the surroundings of the wells show. There is nothing around or near them that would lead to the slightest suspicion that the water is not absolutely pure, like there is about other wells, mineral or not. They guarantee their wells to be the best protected from germs of any well in the country and with every bottle there is a positive guarantee that there are no germs in the water. All should be interested in protecting their health and taking precautions against contagious diseases. They can feel assured of this by using Francis mineral water with which there is a guarantee that it is not only absolutely pure but the purest water on the market, all attempts to the contrary notwithstanding to make it appear that other waters are just as pure. They invite and earnestly court an inspection of their wells, an analysis of the water, and a comparison with other mineral wells, knowing that theirs are the best in the county. a8-0t.

THE BRITISH SPEAKER

His Position is a Hard One, but is Splendidly Rewarded.

It is doubtless because the position of speaker is so onerous that the rewards attached to it are so great. He is originally a member of parliament, like the rest, and is selected by the leader of the house, who is not necessarily the prime minister, from among his own followers for his personal character and dignity and his knowledge of parliamentary procedure. He is usually elected unanimously by vote of the house, and from that moment he ceases to be a party man, and his constituency is divided in its feelings between the honor of returning the speaker and the disadvantage of being for all practical purposes unrepresented in parliament.

The speaker of the house of commons is a person enjoying the greatest official dignity and social consideration. He is the first commoner in the realm; his invitations to dinner are almost equivalent to a royal command; court dress is worn by members who dine with him officially; in the house he is treated with extreme deference, and he receives a salary of £5,000 and the use of a magnificent house, which forms part of the palace of Westminster. He retains office though the politics of the ministry may change through successive administrations until his health fails or he deems himself to have earned retirement. Then the sovereign bestows a peerage upon him and the country a magnificent pension.

The house of commons has been singularly fortunate in securing for speakers men of great dignity, unflinching judgment and unquestioned impartiality. It is a splendid position, and though its intellectual demands are unceasing and its merely physical demands exhausting it is splendidly rewarded.

The position is as exhausting as it is distinguished. During a large part of the session the speaker must be in the chair from 2 p. m. till after midnight except during the dinner hour, from half past 7 to 8, and even when the house is in committee and the chairman of committees is presiding he must be in official dress in his house, which communicates directly with the lobby behind his chair, ready to appear at a moment's notice if summoned. He must, of course, know every member by sight and be able to recall his name instantly. It is astounding sometimes when from a back bench there rises some member who is utterly unknown by sight to his fellow members, who seldom attends and hardly ever speaks and has nothing whatever distinctive in his manner or appearance, to hear the speaker say "Mr. Blank" as readily as if he were accustomed to address him every day.—Henry Norman in Century.

The Mule's Place Said.

"Is that your mule?" asked the man who was going fishing.
"Yas, sir," said the colored man who was sitting on a log by the road.
"Does he kick?"
"Deed, mistuh, he ain't got no cause to kick. He's gittin' his own way right along. I'm de one dat's havin' de worry an' difficulty."—Exchange.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS FOR A GOOD STOMACH

Mr. Rockefeller's Offer Should Be a Warning To Every Man and Woman.

The newspapers and medical journals recently have had much to say relative to John D. Rockefeller's offer of a million dollars for a new stomach.

This great multi-millionaire was too busy to worry about the condition of his stomach. He allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until in the end it became incurable.

His misfortune serves as a warning to others. Everyone who suffers with dyspepsia, for a few years will give everything he owns for a new stomach.

There are twenty million men and women suffering with dyspepsia—twenty million men and women whose stomachs are wearing out.

There are no new stomachs for sale at any price. We offer these sufferers the next best thing. We guarantee to make their old stomachs almost as good as new.

Dyspepsia is caused by an abnormal state of the gastric juices. There is one element missing. The absence of this destroys the function of the gastric fluids. They lose their power to digest food.

We are now able to supply the missing element—to restore to the gastric juices their digestive power, and to make the stomach strong and well.

We know that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will positively and permanently cure. We want you to try them and will return your money if you are not more than satisfied with the result. Price 25 cents. Only at our store, or by mail.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The teachers' institute for Harrison county will convene at Clarkburg the week beginning August 22, 1904, with Dr. Charles H. Albert and Prof. J. N. Deahl as instructors.

Owing to the scarcity of teachers, and upon the recommendation of the State Superintendent of Schools last year, a few of our teachers were permitted to teach without having attended an institute.

This year, however, Superintendent Miller says that all know the conditions and requirements, and he further recommends that no excuses for non-attendance be granted by the County Board of Examiners.

I heartily concur with his suggestions and hereby give notice that all persons who think of teaching in the Harrison county schools this winter, that they must have a certificate of five days in institute attendance.

We are looking forward to a successful institute and invite all friends of education to be with us that we may spend the week profitably.

Respectfully yours,
L. WAYMAN-ODGEN,
County Superintendent.
